

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett Dedicates New City Hall at Vancouver

Mayor McGeer Puts Cornerstone of $1,000,000
Building in Place—Ceremony Part of Big Jubilee Celebration

VANCOUVER, July 2 (P)—A tent with a sign "City Hall" in front and many civic centres which followed gave way today to a twelve-story building looking out over Vancouver at a point where the metropolis can be seen in all its grandeur of city, mountains and water.

Few things in fifty years' history have befuddled Vancouver more than its city hall, present and prospective. For the last twenty years citizens voted to put it here, there, nowhere, and today a belated cornerstone was put into place for a $1,000,000 edifice where they never voted to put it.

Mayor G. G. McGeer, chief proponent of the site after a commission had recommended it, and who fought for acceptance of the Baby

Bonds which are paying for it, put the cornerstone in place and Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett made the dedication speech.

Years of controversy were at least temporarily forgotten by a city in the second day of its golden jubilee celebration. The building has reached almost its full height and will be ready for occupancy in 1937.

Mr. Bennett envisioned the structure as "guardian watch tower" in an era which would see citizenship rise to new heights. "May I dedicate this temple of civic life to the glory of God and the service of the people."

Mayor McGeer hoped the building would inspire future administrations with a sense of their duty.

SEVENTH CITY HALL
The fire of 1886 destroyed the first city hall and on the ashes a new one was built. The old walls still stand, housing the varied stock of a junk company. Civic officials moved into the fifth structure, Market Hall, towards the turn of the century after it was cleaned of the aroma of not work without the participation of the United States, Japan and Germany as members of the League of Nations, and that Great Britain was justified in abandoning sanctions because their continued application would mean war, he said.

BALDWIN DENIES TALES OF ILLNESS

"War is a very terrible thing, and when once let loose in Europe no man can tell how far it will spread and how it will stop."

"I am quite content under the circumstances to be called a coward if I have done what I could in accordance with the views of every country in Europe to keep my people out of war."

He said Britain's joining the "mad folly of Europe" in rearmament was justified on the grounds of the imposition of sanctions and in the carrying out of any future obligations under the League Covenant.

DANGERS ARE INCREASING
In addition, the nation needed a guard against "potential" dangers, which are becoming greater and greater.

He professed to see hope that "sooner or later it may be possible once again to discuss reduction in armament," bringing relief from tremendous expenditures, "which if protracted too long may ruin us all."

He pledged Britain to work at Geneva for peace through collective security, and reiterated a desire for rapprochement with Germany and France, "without whose collaboration no peace in Europe is possible."

Mr. Baldwin in the House of Commons earlier today denied he had disregarded warnings of German armament in 1934.

He spoke firmly in reply of a question put to that effect by Thomas Johnston, Labor.

"There appears to be some misunderstanding," he said.

REARMAMENT STATEMENTS
He also disposed of the Marquis of Londonderry's assertion last week that the Premier had not been misled concerning the rearmament as Mr. Baldwin had stated in the House of Commons in 1935.

Lord Londonderry said at that time he had furnished Mr. Baldwin with facts and figures, which Mr. Baldwin did not relay to the Commons.

"In saying we were misled," the Prime Minister said, "I certainly intended no reflection on any department or individual. If such reflection gained credence, I am glad to correct it."

"It isn't a case of there having been any difference between the Air Ministry and myself as to rearmament in the air. It was a case of our earlier estimates of the rate of that rearmament having been falsified by subsequent accelerations."

Lord Londonderry declared he was "quite satisfied" with the Prime Minister's explanation.

FIFTY SIGN MOTION
More than fifty Conservative members of the House signed a motion earlier requesting that no military or other commitments which might be construed as leading to future accords, be made in speeches outside Parliament by ministers or members.

The action was taken following Opposition criticism in the House of a speech made by Secretary of War Alfred Duff Cooper in Paris in which he told the French "Your frontier is our frontier."

An unique team of wood-carvers in Canada are the Bourgault brothers of St. Jean Port Joli, Que. They are masters in the art of wood-carving and their work, which depicts mostly characters in the French habitant life of Quebec, is greatly sought after. Small wood chisels and penknives are the only tools used to achieve their masterpieces. HOLIDAY HERE MUCH ENJOYED

Nearly 10,000 Persons See
Fireworks—Many Sport
Events Draw Crowds

With brilliant sunshine prevailing, Dominion Day was observed in a variety of ways when all shops and offices were closed in observance of the national holiday.

The greatest concourse of persons gathered at the Causeway in the evening to witness a spectacular fireworks display, which even surpassed that given on May 24, which in itself was probably the most ambitious programme arranged here for some years. The crowd on Wednesday night was estimated at close to 10,000 persons.

Mountains of fiery gems, an acrobatic fireworks man, sets of a patriotic character, a Niagara Falls, and a myriad of multi-colored lights that sprinkled the sky as rockets and bombs were sent soaring into the air brought satisfaction to old and young.

A fine programme of sports attractions was arranged for the day. There were nearly 1,200 persons at the cricket match at Macdonald Park, while lacrosse, regatta, and motor-car races also drew their followers.

Many hied to the country, beaches and favorite fishing grounds, while many others went to Vancouver for the Golden Jubilee festivities. Victoria was host to about 3,000 visitors from Vancouver, Seattle and Upland, while approximately 1,000 Victorians went to Seattle on an excursion.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

OTHER FOODS BESIDES SPINACH ARE RICH IN MINERALS AND VITAMINS

It is unfortunate that most of us as we think of the value of green vegetables in supplying iron, lime, phosphorus, and also vitamins, always think and speak of spinach first. Now spinach is a good food and deserves all the praise given it, but spinach is not liked generally by children, although more adults seem to like it than is generally thought. But the belief that when green vegetables are recommended it simply means spinach and spinach only is responsible for the fact that as spinach is not liked other green vegetables are not eaten.

Thus Dr. H. C. Sherman, in his book, "Food and Health," says: "Please note that 'green vegetables' need not mean spinach. Spinach is by no means in a class by itself as a vegetable rich in vitamin A value. In tests thus far available escarole, kale and parsley have shown higher vitamin A values than spinach; other dark green leafy vegetables such as best greens, chard, dandelion and turnip tops rank about with spinach in this respect. It is time for the science of nutrition to throw off the incubus (crowding out all other valuable leafy vegetables) of being too closely tied up to spinach."

Now the minerals iron, lime and phosphorus and the various vitamins are all absolutely necessary to health of the body tissues and to the body processes, and the everyday foods that contain these minerals and vitamins should be known to all of us. Thus if we do not like spinach, there will be enough variety of other foods to satisfy the body's needs and satisfy or please our appetite.

It is among the vegetables and fruits that we must look for both minerals and vitamins in abundant amounts.

The vegetables recommended are the green leafy vegetables, cabbage, lettuce, cauliflower, celery, white potato, peas, beans, corn, carrot, parsnip. The fruits recommended are apples, apricots, dates, figs, grapes, lemons, oranges, olives, prunes, raisins, berries.

Meats also contain minerals and vitamins, being rich in sulphur and iron, but poor in lime. Liver, kidney and heart are especially rich in iron.

With the above list of foods from which to choose, spinach need not be eaten for its minerals and vitamins if the individual does not like it.

Skipper of Lady Van Says Lipton Cup Not at Stake

Although Official Programme of Regatta Lists Famous Trophy as Feature Prize of Present Yachting Meet, Royal Vancouver Club Has Accepted Challenge for September

ACCORDING to the official programme of the Pacific International Yachting Association, "R" Class racing yachts were sailing on Wednesday afternoon, Thursday morning, and will compete again today, for the Lipton Cup; but, according to Skipper H. E. Wylie, the present holder of the trophy, such a thing is quite impossible, his contention being that the cup must be raced for at Vancouver during September next, a challenge for it having been received by the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club and the dates set.

Skipper Wylie states the trophy which is at stake in the current regatta is the Laherwood Cup. Be that as it may, the fleet little "R" Class boat belonging to Hon. Eric W. Hamber, Lieutenant-Governor, which flies the burgee of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, is well out in front for which ever cup is at stake. On Dominion Day, racing in the first of a series of three races for points, Lady Van managed to outdistance her rivals; but her leadership was challenged a number of times by Sir Tom, Lady Pat, Live Yankee and Riowna, the other "R" Class boats competing.

WIND WAS LIGHT On Wednesday the wind was very light, and there were a number of soft spots over the triangular course; and the amateur sailors had to do considerable guessing to negotiate the twelve nautical miles within the time limit. Yesterday, however, Lady Van had things more to her liking, the wind coming fairly steady and from the west when the preparatory gun went. It was blowing between an eight and ten-mile strength, the course being to windward and return. Lady Van proved an easy winner, taking the lead early in the race, where she remained, finishing well ahead of Lady Pat, Live Yankee, Sir Tom and Riowna.

The class events on the anniversary of Confederation, which really opened the regatta for all types of sailing craft, started in the morning, and because of the light airs which continued throughout the day, were called off by the judges after they had negotiated the course once.

Duncan Weather Perfect For Sweet Pea Festival

DUNCAN, JULY 2.—Duncan's fifth annual sweet pea festival opened most auspiciously yesterday morning under perfect weather conditions and a large number of people turned out for the parade and the colorful ceremony of the crowning of the festival queen.

The queen, Ora Carmichael, was escorted to the dais and presented by Mayor Greig, and was crowned by last year's queen, Bertha Dook. Queen Ora made a charming speech and was a pretty picture with her two attendants, Ina Clark and Ina Coupland, her page, Pat Healey, and attendant flower-girls.

The dais was decorated by Douglas Chapter, I.O.G.E., and the queen's float in the parade by Cowichan Chapter.

The parade was headed by the Cowichan Band, and was very interesting. The first prize for decorated floats went to the Rotary Club; the second to the Indian war canoe entered by local Indians under Billy Thorn, and third prize was awarded the Kinsmen's float.

The Duncan Parent-Teacher Association won the prize for the best decorated private car. Joseph Ray won the award for the best decorated bicycle.

NEW YORK GROUP

Only a few hours after the British Columbia Mountaineering Club party had cleared Lions Gate yesterday, an independent group of four well-known climbers, under the leadership of Fritz H. Wiesner, of New York, set out from Vancouver by steamship for Glendale Cannery from which point they will complete their trip by launch.

The two parties have reached what Bill Dobson, leader of the British Columbia expedition, describes as "a gentleman's agreement." "We found Mr. Wiesner and his party thorough sportsmen," Dobson states. "There will be none of the kind of competition that results in fatal accidents in the hills. Wiesner has agreed to give us the first chance which is all we can ask for."

Visiting Cricketers From Hollywood Are Dinner Guests Here

Men's Canadian Club and Cricket Association Honor Britishers From Film Land—C. Aubrey Smith, Captain of Team, Gives Address

CRICKET, Britain's national game, brought together the England of Hollywood and the England of Victoria over the coffee cups and a dinner of roast beef and Yorkshire pudding at the Empress Hotel here last night. Hollywood cricketers, fourteen of them, headed by their beloved captain, C. Aubrey Smith, seventy-three-year-old British-born actor and gentleman, were the guests of the Victoria Canadian Club and the Victoria and District Cricket Association at the dinner, which marked the close of a two-day visit to the Capital City.

ARE AMBASSADORS
Unassuming devotees of the great game, loyal to the country of their recent adoption, enthusiastically patriotic to the Mother Land, the guests were repeatedly referred to by other speakers as "ambassadors of Britain." Hon. Eric Hamber, Lieutenant-Governor of the province, in voicing a welcome, used the phrase and coupled with it the name of C. Aubrey Smith, "cricketer, a true sportsman and a gentleman."

Mr. Smith was the guest of honor and was introduced by Colonel H. T. Goodland, president of the Canadian Club.
Mr. Smith, typical of the cultured English gentleman of the old school, known in Hollywood as "the British actor," was received with cheers when he rose to speak. And he apologized a moment later for his "inability to adequately express his thanks for the tremendous welcome accorded members of the team." He frankly admitted he was not a public speaker and much preferred cricket.

"Cricket," he said, "is our national game and wherever you find Englishmen in Canada, Australia, South Africa, or other parts of the great Empire, you will find cricket." He said he was a strong believer in the Anglo-American theory of union, and he found cricket was an instrument to foster "that brotherly feeling that exists between citizens of the two countries."

THE BRITISH COLONY
Of the British colony in pictures in Hollywood, he said, "I think that I can safely say the English colony in Hollywood is upholding the traditions of the English stage honorably."

Mr. Smith expressed his thanks to the people of Victoria, paid a special tribute to the work of Annie Heilmann, secretary of the district cricket association, in arranging the tour, and expressed his appreciation of the reception and entertainment provided for them.

Colonel Goodland introduced members of the team present and called on several for remarks. W. Niel Bruce, on behalf of the team, expressed thanks and paid tribute to Mr. Smith for his great work of organizing cricket in California and mentioned the "extraordinary generous treatment of the Britishers in Hollywood by the American people."

He said he "got a great kick, while sitting on the after deck of the Canadian Pacific steamer, out of the knowledge he was again under the British flag, even if it was only from Seattle to Victoria."

TRIBUTE TO CAPTAIN
Claude King, secretary of the club and the second oldest member of the team, gave a review of the organization of cricket clubs in California and the manner in which it was spreading to the young men in

Journalist From Scotland to Speak To Canadian Club

WYATT Tilman, of the Glasgow Herald, will be the speaker-guest at a luncheon meeting of the Men's Canadian Club next Monday at 12:15 p.m. in the Empress Hotel. He will address the members on the subject "The Next Fifty Years." Mr. Tilman was the representative of the Glasgow Herald in the party of Old Country journalists which arrived in Vancouver yesterday on the Golden Jubilee train. Members of the journalists' party are expected in Victoria tomorrow.

the universities. Of his captain, Mr. Smith, he said: "He is the dearest soul I have ever met on God's green earth—and I have been associated with him for more than thirty years."

Thomas Freebairn Smith, radio announcer from Hollywood and a member of the team, expressed thanks on behalf of the younger men of the club. Frank Lawton also spoke briefly. Others introduced were N. F. Dracopis, who is leaving the team to proceed to England to play cricket; Mills and S. Mills, father and son members of the team; Eugene Walsh, Dr. Severas, Joe Drury, who is a native of Winnipeg; John Williams, Stanley Mann, and P. Lechendorf.

The dinner closed with the singing of the national anthems of the two countries.

of base metals which heretofore were the backbone of the British Columbia mining industry, continued jointly to the result, regarded as most satisfactory in view of world market conditions. The first half of the year is the lighter of the two periods in respect to yields, so that a gain of more than $2,000,000 in this period is recognized as encouraging.

Price behavior in the first six months saw gold remain almost stationary at $35.10 per fine ounce, lead increase from 23 to 33 cents per pound; zinc increase from 28 to 33 cents per pound; copper move from 72 to 89 cents per pound, and silver drop considerably from 64.03 to 45.20 cents per ounce.

British Columbia's production in gold for twelve months last year was $13,747,994 in Canadian funds, a sharp contrast, little more than $3,000,000 in 1929. Lead came next with an aggregate value of $1,705,930; zinc, $7,940,860; silver, $5,994,075; coal, $5,048,864; and copper, $1,022,769.

Hundreds of men went back to work in the industry, which had payrolls and supply bills running into the millions.

Since the low point in 1928 when all production was worth $28,798,406, British Columbia metals and minerals have recovered substantially, to $42,305,297 in 1935. The improvement is continuing, and is the result of private enterprise applied to resources with world market outlet.

His company, especially the affiliated company, Radio Corporation of America, is going ahead with its television experiments but there are many problems yet to be overcome before it will be commercially sound, on a widespread scale, Mr. Grimley said, in answer to questions.

"In our opinion, it will complement radio as we know it today, rather than supplant it."

TO BE GREAT RADIO YEAR

RCA Victor Radio Officials Report Western Sales Convention Big Success

This will be the greatest "listening year" in radio history, predicted E. C. Grimley, Montreal, president of RCA Victor Talking Machine Company, of Canada, Ltd., F. W. Radcliffe, Montreal, Western division sales manager, and F. A. Boyle, Vancouver, British Columbia, manager, on Wednesday, at the Empress Hotel, a few minutes after they had flown here from Vancouver to confer with local dealers of their radio, gramophone and radio, electric phonographs and farm radios.

Fresh from a four-day sales convention of Western dealers, held at Banff Springs Hotel and Chateau Lake Louise, last week, the executives reported it a complete success, combining the opportunity of a business demonstration of the RCA Victor radio—the "magic brain" and "magic eye"—has been added to the "magic voice."

"Beauty of tone and beauty of cabinet are two of our ideals combining in the radio, which we prefer to call a 'musical instrument,'" explained Mr. Radcliffe. "We make our own cabinets, designed especially to suit the radio, and our product is the closest to being a 100 per cent Canadian radio."

The "magic voice" musical instrument includes an acoustic resonator connection with the loud-speaker compartment which extends the range over complete octave and removes cabinet resonance or "boom," thus creating a "room presence," and removes the fault found in older instruments that gives the impression the music is "down in a barrel," Mr. Radcliffe stated.

Other features are an iron core, intermediate frequency, transformer and air trimmers, all specially treated to withstand shock, vibration and varying weather conditions.

HOLD WORLD COURT
European powers are holding almost daily world courts, and their leaders, speaking in English over powerful short-wave broadcasting stations, are attempting to justify their actions in the eyes of the rest of the world, Mr. Radcliffe said.

Also, great ceremonies which were held and will be held this year in England hold much interest for the owners of short-wave radios of the better class.

Mr. Grimley, on his first visit to Victoria, spoke alternatively of the beauty he found here and the steady growth of the radio industry in Canada, increase of sales and efforts made by Victor for price and quality stabilizing. He also spoke of the company's optimism for better business and radio organization in Canada.

His company, especially the affiliated company, Radio Corporation of America, is going ahead with its television experiments but there are many problems yet to be overcome before it will be commercially sound, on a widespread scale, Mr. Grimley said, in answer to questions.

"In our opinion, it will complement radio as we know it today, rather than supplant it."

What Today Means
"CANCER"

If July 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you this date are from 10:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., from 3:45 to 5:45 p.m. and from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 5:45 to 10:45 a.m., from 5:45 to 7:45 p.m. and from 9:45 to 11:45 p.m.

Suggestions are apt to play an important part in this day's affairs. Be cautious how you permit other people's ideas to influence your actions. If you are wise you will avoid seeing any morbid play, or reading any kind of an unwholesome book this day, for either is apt to have a very depressing effect. It might be good judgment to telephone in advance of making either a business or social call, so as to ascertain if your visit will be welcomed. Unless you are careful, there is a likelihood of your discovering frankness is not always appreciated, so express yourself diplomatically this day. Beware of meddlers, for you might find, to your sorrow, that they are generally trouble makers. Married and engaged couples, as well as those basking in someone's high favor, had better refrain from making any complimentary remarks if they wish to remain in good standing this day.

If a woman and July 3 is your birthday, you ought to be a very talented person. Anything that borders on the artistic should have a strong appeal to you. Your purse strings may not be tied tight enough for your own good. Yours is possibly a very lavish nature, particularly when it comes to spending money. You ought to be a music lover as well as very literary. You are likely to have ample means to gratify most of your desires. As an author, teacher, musician, actress or artist, fame is likely to be won by you. As a married woman you will perhaps gain distinction as well as happiness.

The child born on July 3 probably, when it reaches its majority, will embark upon some very successful and lucrative career. It has a chance of becoming quite famous.

Regatta Ball Attended By Big Throng at Club

Three hundred dancers attended the regatta ball held last night at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, and the affair proved to be the social highlight of the Pacific International Yachting Association's annual regatta week. Members of the Hollywood Cricket Club team, visitors from San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma and Seattle were special guests.

The main dance room and the wide verandas of the clubhouse were gay with flowers, while colored lights, strung from the trees in the gardens, lent a festive air.

Yachtsmen from the Mainland attended with parties of friends, and dancing continued until an early hour this morning to the strains of an excellent five-piece orchestra.

Supper was served in the dining-room upstairs, where masses of lovely flowers had been arranged on the tables. It was a gala affair and everyone entered into the spirit of the evening with whole-hearted enjoyment, pronouncing the ball a tremendous success from every point of view.

WARNER BAXTER
DOMINION STAR

Plays Title Role in "Robin Hood of El Dorado," Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's spectacular new outdoor feature, which is currently at the Dominion Theatre.

Margo, the fiery Spanish dancing beauty, who became a dramatic actress two years ago and since has created international attention, has one of the two feminine roles opposite Warner Baxter in "Robin Hood of El Dorado." Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's spectacular new outdoor feature, which is currently at the Dominion Theatre.

The other feminine leading role is played by Ann Loring, a distinguished newcomer to the films. "Robin Hood of El Dorado" presents Baxter as Joaquín Murrieta, dashing good-bad man, who led a wild army of outlaws in the days of the American gold camps of California in the days of '49, leaving a trail of plumed aces and broken hearts.

Also in the cast are Bruce Cabot, J. Carrol Nash, Eric Linden, Edgar Kennedy, Charles Trowbridge and Harvey Stephens. The picture is the latest production of John W. Considine, Jr., and was directed by William Wellman.

COLUMBIA PRESENTS
STIRRING NEW FILM

Gene Autry's horse, Champion, had to make a new friend in his latest picture, "Melody Trail," which is now at the Columbia Theatre. In this Republic feature, there was also another famed animal actor, Buck, the dog which scored such a sensational hit in "Call of the Wild."

"Melody Trail" includes in the cast such outstanding performers as Gene Autry, Smiley Burnette, Ann Rutherford, Wade Boteler, Al Bridge, Willis Castle, Marie Quillen, Fern Emmett, Gertrude Messinger, Tracy Lane, George De Norman, Marion Downing, Irene Reed, Jane Barnes and Baby Shah.

ATLAS Two beautiful young THEATRE brides portray modern Eves who bring discord into a self-contained family group in "Jalna," now at the Atlas Theatre. Kay Johnson and Molly Lamont are the wives, part of an international cast including Ian Hunter, C. Aubrey Smith, Nigel Bruce, David Manners, Peggy Wood and Jessie Ralph.

PLAZA Ruth Chatterton, who is starred in Columbia's new romantic drama, "Lady of Secrets," now showing at the Plaza Theatre, is the film colony's outstanding aviatrix. She has the distinction of being the only actress ever to pilot her own plane across the country.

CAPITOL Carole Lombard and THEATRE Fred MacMurray have proved themselves ideal screen sweethearts in "Hands Across the Table." In "The Princess Comes Across," now at the Capitol Theatre, they have shown that the success of their first teaming was not accidental. It is not easy to explain, either. Neither Miss Lombard nor

"GREAT ZIEGFELD" TO OPEN HERE NEXT WEEK

She is known as "The Girl With the Faber Body," because of the hundreds of national automobile advertisements in which she has appeared.

To these laurels, Hester Deane adds another as one of the lucky beauties selected for glorification in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Great Ziegfeld," opening July 8 at the Capitol Theatre. The new musical was suggested by the career of America's greatest showman, Florenz Ziegfeld.

Miss Deane, photographer's model, was recently in London when she was offered a screen contract with Alexander Korda's British productions, but she refused.

So she sailed to America on the Normandie. When she arrived in New York, ship news reporters welcomed her as a new "Ziegfeld discovery." It was news to her, but it gave her an idea.

She took a plane for Hollywood, sought and won a screen test and was signed by Producer Hunt Stromberg.

FOOT HEALTH Goes On Sale

SHOES $5.00

Why?

A revolutionary development of policy necessitates this amazing clearance. A year's selling has definitely proved Victorians are looking for a complete foot care service. In order to concentrate on strictly corrective and better quality footwear we are forced to close out lines that total 700 pairs of shoes... at drastic reductions... without reserve! The awakening of the public to the importance of foot health requires us to enlarge our stock of strictly Corrective Footwear... and we must have room for this larger stock. Don't miss this truly sensational bargain opportunity!

HELEN JACOBS AND HILDA SPERLING REACH FINAL

Four Victorians Chosen to Make Trip to Trials

Joe Addison, Bill Dale, Chuck Cunningham, Bruce Humber to Represent British Columbia at Montreal—Archie McKinnon Named Coach—McPhee Equals Record

VANCOUVER, July 2 (P)—Headed by Howie McPhee, University of British Columbia, who equalled the world record for the 100 metres, twelve athletes from this province were chosen today to go East to the Canadian Olympic trials following their performances in yesterday's provincial track and field trials.

Biggest surprise in the selection was the absence of Bob Dixon's name. Dixon, who won the British Empire Games javelin throw in 1934, was not deemed of Olympic calibre on the present season's showing.

Some of the athletes are definitely down to travel to Montreal, but others will be dependent upon raising of funds.

Joe Haley, of Trail, running high jump, and Marahai Limon, Vancouver, 400 metres, are already in the East.

ADDITION CHOSEN

McPhee, sprinter, dark-framed, Vancouver Police, sprinter, and Joe Addison, Victoria Police, 400 metres, are slated to go.

The others for whom it is hoped to raise the necessary money are Bruce Humber, Victoria, sprinter; Martin Naylor, Powell River, sprinter; Bill Dale, Victoria, 800 metres; Hugh Thomson, Nanaimo, and Chuck Cunningham, Victoria, both 1500 metres; Lee Orr, now attending Washington State College, sprinter; and Ed Burritt, Vancouver, pole vault.

Archie McKinnon, Victoria, will go along as coach.

By his record-equalling victory, McPhee, who first came into prominence two years ago when he cleared up in eight events at New Zealand as a member of the Canadian schoolboy track team, had assured himself of a place on British Columbia's squad when they travel to Montreal.

Last year the dark-haired sophomore pulled a tendon, which put him out of the picture for 1935, but under the wing of Coach Bob Gagner, the team manager who developed Percy Williams, he has advanced into greater prominence than ever.

He was as surprised as anyone as five non-watches recorded his record-equalling time. "Gee," he said, "that can't be right, I didn't think I could do that."

VISITORS HAVE SNAPPY SQUAD

Faber Hardware, Seattle, Bringing Strong Team for Saturday's Game

Faber Hardware, hard-hitting Seattle softball nine, and present league leaders, will make their Victoria debut tomorrow at the Royal Athletic Park in a twin bill exhibition series. In the afternoon game, billed to start at 2:45 o'clock, the visitors will oppose the Silent Stars, and in the nightcap, slated for 6:15 o'clock, will meet Brundage's Boys.

Officials of the Lower Island Softball Association yesterday announced that the teams will play a combination of Canadian and American rules. Ten men will be permitted on each club; bunting will be permissible, and players will be allowed to advance on a passed ball. The tenth player is known as the short fielder, and plays behind second base.

The visitors have only lost one game this season, and in six league fixtures scored 46 runs to their opponents' nine. They will bring over their strongest team for the games.

Up-Island Lacrosse

NANAIMO, July 2.—Outside of the regatta held by the Nanaimo Yacht Club, the only sports held in Nanaimo on Dominion Day was an exhibition game of lacrosse between Westview, of Powell River, and Nanaimo's All-Stars. The three years' experience of the Powell River players against the three months' experience of the locals, proved to be too big a handicap, and the River men won 18 to 3. Six hundred people witnessed the game.

EDWARDS TOPS MARKSMEN AT BISLEY RANGE

Captures King's Medal With Score of 407—Canadians Training

BISLEY CAMP, Surrey, July 2 (P)—Sergeant-Major Edwards, of the Cornwalls, today won the King's Medal for the regular army and the army rifle championship with a score of 407.

This is the major individual award of services week, in which marksmen of the army and the navy are competing.

Edwards had only shot at Bisley three times before. He never was a big prize-winner until he captured the Roberts Cup yesterday.

Sergeant-Instructor Martin, of the Small Arms School, won the Army Hundred Cup with a score of 167.

CANADIANS TRAINING

The Canadian Bisley team, which will swing into action next week as the National Rifle Association competition begins, continued long range practice in wretched weather.

The Canadians are delighted with the warm welcome they have received at Bisley. A number of visits have been exchanged, including one with the South Africa team. Lieut.-Colonel N. D. Dingle, Calgary, commandant of the Canadian team, refused to commit himself on the team's chances. He said: "They are a fine lot of chaps, hard workers. There is a splendid spirit throughout the team."

The Dominion marksmen rested yesterday from practice. Colonel Dingle, Major R. S. Harrison and Mrs. Harrison, of Toronto, and several members of the team, attended a Dominion Day reception.

DUNCAN NETTERS SET BACK C.P.R.

DUNCAN, July 1.—Duncan men tennis players defeated the C.P.R. team here in the Island knockout competition arranged by the Lower Island Association, and so enter the final round. Yesterday's games were closely contested with four out of ten three-set matches. Duncan winning by seven matches to three.

J. Parker won from R. Wood, 6-4, 6-8, 6-3, and won from T. McLeod, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2.

DOUBLES

Staples and Christmas won from Wood and Cox, 8-7, 1-6, 6-1.
Parker and Debell lost to Taylor and McLeod, 6-3, 4-6, 4-6.

Breaking Another Mark

In whipping 100 yards down a Kansas City track in 11.6 seconds, Helen Stephens, sensational girl sprinter from Fulton, Miss., only increased the feeling that she is a certainty to win points against world athletes in Berlin. It was the third time she has bettered the world mark of 11.8 seconds, held by Stella Walsh. Miss Stephens is shown breaking the tape at the finish of her race.

Canadians Beaten In Opening Heats At Henley Regatta

Johnny Coulson and Noel de Mille Eliminated From Diamond Sculls Trophy Competition—Coulson Is Victim of Freak Diamond

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 2 (P)—Canada's bid to capture the Diamond Sculls Trophy, symbolic of the world's amateur sculling championship, was ended in short order today at the Royal Henley regatta.

Johnny Coulson, of Toronto Argonauts, was defeated in his first heat by T. H. Tyler, of Thames Rowing Club, while Noel de Mille, of Vancouver Rowing Club lost to H. L. Warren, of Cambridge.

Tyler's time over the Henley course, one mile 550 yards, was 10.33. Coulson's right scull broke clean just after the heat started. The young Argonaut sculler fell into the water and was picked up by the umpire's launch, while Tyler finished the course alone.

Coulson said he was amazed at the extraordinary accident, adding he had had the boat only three weeks.

Warren covered the distance in 9.41 and finished two and one-half lengths ahead of the Vancouver sculler.

The present holder of the Diamond Sculls, E. Ruffl, of Zurich, Switzerland, won his first heat yesterday.

A downpour of rain failed to ruffle Warren and De Mille.

The Cambridge sculler Britain's chief hope to bring the prized trophy back home, was a length ahead in the first 200 yards and soon established a commanding lead. Warren passed Fawley, about halfway, in 4 minutes 30 seconds. Afterwards De Mille's steering was erratic. But Warren was too far in front in any case to be threatened by a spurt. De Mille gained slightly at the mile post but Warren continued to scull wistfully and won fresh.

SCORES EASY VICTORY
R. F. Winstone, of Mileway Boat Club, defeated A. P. Johnson, of Princeton, N.J. in another Diamond Sculls heat. Winstone won easily in 9.31.

All four United States eight-oared shells chalked up victories.

The Union Boat Club, of Boston, made a successful start in the grand challenge cup competition and three American scholastic crews—Kent (Conn.) School, Bronx and Nichols School, of Cambridge, Mass., and Tabor Academy, of Marietta, Mass.—all won their second heats in the Thames Challenge Cup races.

The Trinity Boat Club defeated Pembroke College's "A" crew by 7.46.

Kent defeated the Mileway Boat Club by five-lengths in 7.47, despite a bad headwind. Tabor Academy eliminated the Lady Margaret Boat Club "B" crew, of Cambridge, by four lengths in 7.46. Bronx and Nichols was hard-pressed in turning back the formidable Thames Rowing Club "B" crew by a half length in 7.49.

Tokio Imperial University's crew defeated the Quintin Boat Club "A" crew by two lengths in 7.41 in the trials for the grand challenge cup.

SIMO TAKES FEATURE AT LANDSDOWNE

Heads Field in Queen City Handicap—Don Marcus Finishes Second

VANCOUVER, July 2 (P)—Simo, the Richmond Stable's brilliant Western Canada-bred, galloped into the lead in the stretch of the Queen City Handicap, feature event at Lansdowne track today, and was going away from the favorite, Don Marcus, at the finish. An outsider, Adam Somers, also moved into contention in the stretch to finish third. Behind in the early pace, Simo was given his head by Jockey Lasswell in the stretch, and he caught the others and pulled away to win by two lengths.

Jockey Lasswell and Jockey Burns each rode three winners today. Lasswell brought home Clemente Girl in the third race, Simo in the fifth and Paris Leave in the seventh, while young Burns scored victories with Quiver Avondale in the first race, Princess A.A. in the second and The Pagan in the sixth race.

REGISTER STRAIGHT SET VICTORIES ON WIMBLEDON COURTS

American Reaches Final for Fifth Time by Scoring Over Polish Star—German Girl Eliminates Mme. Mathieu—Borotra Injured and Is Forced From Men's Doubles Contest

WIMBLEDON, England, July 2 (P)—For the fifth time in her career, Helen Jacobs, the United States champion, today fought her way to the final of the all-England tennis championship with a 6-4, 6-3 victory over Jadwiga Jedzejowska, of Poland.

On Saturday, Miss Jacobs will play Frau Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling, of Germany and Denmark, for the title that escaped her by a single point last year, when she muffed the simplest kind of a smash against Mrs. Helen Willis Moody.

Frau Sperling reached the championship round by defeating Miss Simone Mathieu, France, 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Jacobs seldom has looked better than she did in spiking the heavy artillery of the hard-driving Miss Jedzejowska. For a while in the first set, when her opponent led 3-2 and then 4-3, the American's supporters were a bit worried. Then she settled down to win.

Frau Sperling's retrieving ability finally broke her French opponent's heart. Mme. Mathieu rushed from the court, almost in tears, without waiting for her conqueror. The German's long legs carried her over the court with remarkable speed and ease, and she turned many apparently unreachable shots into winning points.

BOROTRA INJURED
Tragedy struck when Jean Borotra, veteran French star, fell heavily on the wrong flagging at the side of the court in the third set of a quarter final doubles match with Jacques Brugnon against the American-Japanese team of Merrett Cunningham and Jiro Itoh. The Frenchmen won, 6-2, 7-5, 5-7, 6-2, but later scratched from the competition. Borotra tore a muscle in his thigh and it was feared his long and spectacular tennis career was ended. "I'm afraid I'm through," he said. "But it's about time anyway."

Withdrawal of the Frenchmen sent Charles Hare and Frederick Wilde, of Great Britain, into the final, where they will meet the winner of the match between Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, United States, and the British Davis cuppers, Pat Hughes and Charles Tuckey.

Don Budgie and Mrs. Sarah Palfray Fabian, United States, reached the semi-final round of the mixed doubles with a 6-0, 6-2, victory over Frances Kukuljivic, Jugoslavia, and Countess de la Valdene, Spain.

UDL Special OLD RYE
The finest Rye in the world!
8 YEARS OLD

Time - THREE CENTURIES PROVE THAT THESE GINS ARE "Just that much Better"

The British method of making things . . . careful and painstaking . . . is emphasized in the production of real London Dry Gin. Its world-wide demand is proof of this.

Here's an instance. There is 300 years of history behind Sir Robert Burnett's and Vickers' London Dry Gips . . . 300 years of men's effort, loyalty and pride devoted to the perfection of these products. These were the factors that influenced the Trade Mission sent to Britain in 1927 by Distillers Corporation, in securing the Canadian rights for these Gips.

The London Dry Gin must be made by the British method. Special ingredients, British built equipment and expert supervision are absolutely essential. The spirit must be of a special character, and therefore can be produced only through the use of a patented Still and a special process.

Sir Robert Burnett's and Vickers' London Dry Gins acquire their true to type English quality due to the fact that the Stills that produce them were imported from England and are the only equipment of their kind in Canada.

And now when you purchase any one of these famous brands, your taste will tell you the difference 300 years of experience make . . . convince you that at their prices, they are the greatest values in real London Dry Gin.

SUBURBAN HEIGHTS By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

How It Started

By JEAN-NEWTON

"PEACE WITH HONOR" "Peace with honor," a phrase connoting face-saving conditions for laying down or not taking up arms, has been in the English language for many hundreds of years.

While the expression has been credited to Lord Beaconsfield, its whole "Runnymede Letters" and in whose description of the achievements of the Berlin Congress of 1878 it appears, its usage far antedates this.

Though its first appearance goes back much further, we find it among other places, in the second great speech on conciliation with America by Burke in 1775.

One of its very earliest recordings is as early as the twelfth century, when it is said to have been used in a letter written by Theobald, Count of Champagne, to Louis le Gros.

Blessed is the calamity that makes us humble, though so repugnant to our nature, in our present state, that after a while it is to be feared a second and sharper calamity would be wanted to cure us of our pride in having become so humble.

Jane Dixon Says:

THE ROUND-UP IS HER MOST INTERESTING COLUMN, BECAUSE OF ITS GENERAL USEFULNESS—ADVISES MAN WHO SEEKS WIFE WITH A DOWRY

Round-up.

To those of you who have written that you find the round-up both interesting and helpful, thanks a million.

The round-up is my favorite column because it offers variety and opportunity—variety of problems and opportunity to answer more of them than could otherwise be managed in a given space.

Let's have a look in the corral for today.

Worried Man: You went in search of a wife with a dowry, and you fell in love with a woman who has a dowry and a past. You want to delve into that past, to know the why and whereof of it. You are full of question marks, of suppositions, of imaginings. In other words, my dear fellow, you insist on looking a gift horse in the mouth. If you love the woman as she is today, love her. Married to her, you must live with her, not with her past. Conduct yourself as a normal young man in love with a desirable young woman. Propose to her. If she fails to respond to your gestures of affection after the proposal, either she does not love you or her past has unfitted her for love, perhaps not for all time, but for the present.

Waiting: What good could be accomplished by telling the man's wife of his deception? To do so would be to multiply unhappiness, and no benefit can come to you from being the agency for such multiplication. After all, the deception occurred before he married his present wife. He has made no attempt to renew his life with you since his marriage. He behaved in a cruel and cowardly manner, and my bet is that his trusting wife will discover all too soon what a bad bargain she has made. Forget him. The bitterness of revenge is self-poison, so stop poisoning yourself.

Ellen S.: You are bringing discontent and loquaciousness and boredom on yourself. At eighteen, you are out of step with life because you are a "sourball." You dislike this and doubt that, and are ready to give up before you even begin. You want a home of your own, and husband, and children to care for. What have you done to earn such blessings? Put on a smile, wear the cap of good hope; try to catch the rhythm of living instead of whining about how everything, everybody, is out of tune except yourself. No wonder you haven't found a job. You hate business. I wouldn't have a business—either in my office or store or factory, or any other place, if I could read the "hate" as plainly as it must be written in your face. Come on, my dear—it's a gorgeous great big round orange, this world in which we live. Stop being a misfit and try to catch the swing of it. Like people. Like work. Then you'll find your Mr. Right.

L. G.: The man who truly loves you will not ask you whether you were born in the log house or in the big house on the hill. You are continually apologizing to him for something that is none of his business. Better forget the man who doubts your integrity and who makes it his business to acquaint himself with your past instead of concentrating on your present and your future.

Mollie: One of the prime requisites of true friendship is honesty. Tell both young men you enjoy them as friends, but that you are not yet ready for a more intimate attachment. If such frankness incurs their enmity, they are not worthy of your consideration.

C. E. W.: Your mother is right. Life is what we make it. You should determine to enjoy your youth and your friends and the activities around you, not sit about and mope over a situation you cannot control. If you are going to "live" only two nights a week for six years, your life will be mighty short. Why make a burden of yourself and your love at the beginning of the young man's preparation for work? Why not be good comrades and intermingling helpful friends to others so that, if you do come together at the end of the six years, you will be the better prepared to love and to appreciate each other? A six-year huddle over a single purpose would make you narrow and inadequate to be the helpmate of a man who is prepared to go places and do things.

WE'LL MEET AGAIN
 HARMAN NICHOLS

CHAPTER XXVI

At intermission, Gay smoked a cigarette. The voices of people in the lobby were low and inarticulate. Gregg said: "It's going over big. I thought I was going to catch up on my sleep during your friend's play, Gay. But I was mistaken. It's not a great play, but there's no artificiality in it. It speaks the truth, and sometimes people like to hear the truth."

In the final scene the audience did not know whether the distraught heroine would marry the rich young man or the poor young man, who was Chris. But when the girl walked off the stage as the curtains met, they remembered the line, "We'll meet again," and they knew she would follow the man who had nothing to offer except himself.

There was a storm of applause and seven curtain calls. "Not a great play," the critics would probably say, "but a good one that should have a long run."

Gay, drawing the satin coat over her bare shoulders, thought, "They like it because it makes old people remember and young people think. I can't decide, I've made my choice!"

She went to Margo Stevens' party, where cocktails were plentiful and where scores of people came and went until dawn. She could not sleep when she got home, remembering words that Chris had shouted across land and sea to her.

Next day she went to the airport with Gregg.

"It's rather a shame to deny our friends a big show," he said. "I'll speak to Margo about a quiet wedding in Florida and wire you when to come down. Cheerio, darling."

From the airport she went to see Penny.

"Have you seen the notices about the play?" Penny cried. "They're marvelous! Oh, this means so much to us, Gay! Mac and I will take a little home in the country and Chris will be able to travel as he's always wanted to." She frowned. "It—it really wasn't a play at all, you know. He was just talking to you."

"I know," Penny said. "But she's a very attractive girl, isn't she? She put her hand on Gay's shoulder. 'Chris loves you. Do you want to spend your life looking and searching for the other half of you that's with him? Mac isn't far away. You love him. I've known it a long time. I'm not very bright or very smart,' Penny said solemnly, 'but Chris is the kind of man a woman could follow to the end of the earth, asking for nothing except just to be with him. Love,' said Penny, 'is enough.'"

Gay said: "Please, please don't say any more. It's all true. But I'm going to Florida any day now to marry Gregg. He loves me, too."

"As much as he's capable of loving. But love is only a side issue to Gregg."

The next morning Diana came to New York.

It was Diana and not the maid who drew apart the silk curtains to let the morning sunlight into Gay's charming bedroom.

"Wake up, child," Diana said, sitting on the bed, "and look at your mother." She kissed Gay's cool forehead and pushed back a stray red curl. "What elegant surroundings you live in, darling. You look splendid, but a little tired."

"It's so good to see you, mother. You look..."

"Like the country woman I am, sunburned from working in a flower garden and quite muscular from driving an enormous touring car over dirt roads. A cold shower is what you need and then we'll talk at breakfast."

Breakfast was served on the patio beneath a wide umbrella. Gay, in a lace negligee, looked across the little table at her mother. How well and strong and happy she looked!

"I had to buy some new clothes," Diana said. "Some sturdy linen and a new riding habit so I can crank across country with Jerry. He's a darling, Gay. I don't try to mother him. I'm his friend and we talk and laugh together. Gordon comes down on week-ends. He stays at the inn and has his meals with us. We have an enormous black cook, a lazy gardener, and a maid who drops things. How can you endure the city? You can't breathe here and the awful crowds."

She paused and smiled. "How I do love, but I've found peace and contentment. What about you, dear?"

"I'm glad you came because—because I'm going to Florida to be married."

"You are like a child with an expensive toy, who isn't happy with it," Diana said gravely. "This is all lovely, my dear, living so luxuriously, and you are lovelier in a setting like this."

"I don't want peace and contentment," said Gay stubbornly. "When I'm older, yes, but not now. I want to be wildly, madly happy. I want..." She looked away and added, "But I'm going to marry Gregg, mother."

"Out of gratitude. You owe him a great deal, but you don't owe him your life in payment. That's too great a price. If you marry him, loving some one else, you'll be one of those bored, restless, rich women who are more to be pitied than any other women in the world."

Diana looked at her with calm understanding. Some instinct had prompted her to come. It was as if an inner voice had urged, "You must go to her and tell her gently that she must not marry a man for whom she feels only a mild affection. You must see that the love she can give some man is going to waste. Since the first night he came to dinner in the studio, Gay has loved Chris Malloy. Her splendid love would not be wasted on him."

During the days that followed, mother and daughter were inseparable. They shopped and stopped in at cool places for afternoon tea. But invariably in their talks they went back to the days when Diana was reading tea leaves in the basement tea room and Gay was modeling dresses for Marchand.

"I shall probably marry Gordon one of these days," Diana said, smiling, "but it won't be out of gratitude. It will be because, next to your father, he's the finest man I've ever known. Jerry keeps saying, 'Why don't you and father get married?' You won't mind, dear?"

"Not Gordon," said Gay. "People, discovering Diana was in town, telephoned her to come to their parties. Lucia's mother sent an invitation to one of her 'at homes.'"

Diana laughed. "Let's not go. Stella Baring is really a very tiresome woman. Let's go to see Penny and Mac. Those two happy children delight me. And tonight Gordon is going to take me to see Chris' play."

Gay lived in a state of expectancy, knowing that soon Gregg's telegram would come. Often she walked into the room where her treasured dress was displayed and touched the lovely garments, thought, "These are only things that hang on you. Chris never notices what you wear. He looks into your face. I know now that money and social position are nothing when I've got to spend the rest of my life loving a man I'll never see again. What do all these things matter when my body will be in one place and my heart in another?"

It was raining the morning Gregg's telegram came. "Mother agreeable to our plans? Stop. Having yacht sent down. Stop. We'll like the house. Stop. Wire when you will arrive. Love."

She stood by the table in the drawing-room and read it again and again. Quietly she said, "I'd better get the maid to pack. I—I'm going to have a lot of baggage."

"I'd suggest that you go by boat," said Diana. "It isn't good flying weather and the train trip is so tiresome. An ocean trip will do you good."

"But it takes several days."

"The sun and air will be good for you," Diana insisted. "You don't want to be a pale bride, darling?"

"Aren't you coming with me?"

"No. Forgive me for not coming—but mothers cry at weddings. I'll see you when you get back. I don't want to go all the way to Florida to cry. That would be silly," said Diana. "I can't good flying weather and the train trip is so tiresome. An ocean trip will do you good."
